

Equipping me with advanced data analysis skills and competencies...

My Apprenticeship Journey

Hear from one of our incredible learners from the Children's Trust who has experienced the journey firsthand.

Erik Bernardini, a Performance Analyst at the Children's Trust in a central England council, has experienced substantial professional growth through the support and training from the Digital Trainers at Learning Curve Group (LCG). This journey underscores the positive impact of effective training and mentorship.

Erik found the Digital Trainers to be invaluable, noting their professionalism, engaging methods, and persistent follow-ups kept him motivated. "The Digital Trainers have been a great help in all the sessions we had, really professional, kept me interested, and chased me when needed. They should just keep doing the fantastic job they are doing," he remarked.

LCG's support also significantly benefited Erik's employer. Erik observed, "You really helped my manager in all the ways you could, and the end product was really good. So just keep doing what you are doing currently."

Through the course, Erik developed new skills and knowledge, particularly in SQL and R, boosting his confidence and expertise in conducting advanced data queries and analysis. This has greatly enhanced his performance as a Performance Analyst.

LCG's commitment to Erik's development continued beyond the course, providing valuable advice on future career steps, professional memberships, and career path exploration. This ongoing support has set Erik on a trajectory for continued growth and success in his career.
